Civic groups makes plans to fight Pass annexation

BY DENA BISNETTE
Residents of Henderson Point, Pass Christian Isles and several other communities near Pass Christian have decided to fight annexation in court and at the polls. About 150 people attended a meeting of the Henderson Point-Pass Christian Isles Civic Association Saturday afternoon to discuss annexation proposal and how to fight it. The annexation ordinance, passed by the city board on Feb. 5, effects an area extending north from Henderson Point and Pass Christian to Bayou Portage, Bay Colony, Bal Moral subdivisions east to Highway 90, north to Demorelle and East to the Long Beach limits at Beatline Road. The association opposes the annexation because its members feel the decision to annex is based on an inaccurate feasibility study, according to Gerald Roux, who chaired the meeting. Speakers included Harrison County Sheriff Larkin Smith, association attorney Floyd Logan and association president James McQueen in addition to Roux. "We're facing what is probably one of the most tragic situations we've faced since Hurricane Camille," said Roux, alleging that the city board had passed the annexation ordinance without first obtaining any input from voters or residents of the effected communities. He also alleged that Pass Christian is unable to provide sewage, water, police protection and other services to the area to be annexed since city residents have complained that those services are already inadequate. The communities proposed for annexation do not presently obtain those services from the city. Roux said the association has circulated a petition asking that the annexation question be brought to a vote and has found Pass Christian voters to be 20-1 against annexing new territory due to the potential tax increase. He also urged members of the association to become active in Pass Christian politics and to look for qualified candidates willing to run against the four city board members favoring annexation. "The best place to fight them is the ballot box," he said. "Only Lionel Landry, the newest alderman, is innocent of this because he was not on the board when this happened." Logan explained the legal procedures involved in annexation, which includes the passage of an annexation ordinance by the city board and a hearing on the matter in chancery court. When an annexation ordinance is filed in chancery court, a hearing is set and the city must advertise its intent to annex for 30 days. The chancellor must decide if the annexation is reasonable or necessary. Those opposing the annexation, not the city, assume the burden of proof in court. Logan also explained appeal procedures. "If we have to go through the whole procedure, it could take up to a year," he commented. McQueen, an engineer, discussed the feasibility study on which the annexation decision was based, pointing out errors in the study.

Bay school board asks teachers to report Monday

BRENDA HEATHCOCK
St. Louis teachers voted Monday night to stay out of school on Tuesday, March 11, although the Bay St. Louis School Board scheduled a meeting for that day. The board is considering the recommendation of Superintendent J. D. McCullough, who voted four to one in favor of requiring teachers to return to school Monday or be in breach of contract. McCullough told the approximately 100 teachers attending the special meeting that as far as the board was concerned everything was okay if teachers would return to school Monday. He concurred with each teacher that a raise in salary, the students of this school to be concerned with," McCullough said. "The situation is coming up, children pass to the next grade and there will be a total of 175 teaching positions before the next school year begins," he added.

McCullough said although school was out one day for teachers to go to Jackson in support of the pay raise, everything would be alright if school started again on Monday. "If we stay out next week, we will have to make up the day at the end of the year or on Saturdays," he said. McCullough also said he believed that the school board, parents and many others have shown their support of the teachers in various ways. A round of applause by teachers attending the meeting followed board member Margo Frommeyer's motion to extend spring holidays so teachers who do not attend school Monday would not be terminated. Frommeyer said extending the holidays would not just be for the teachers but also for the students. She added that it was the obligation of the school board to educate the students, not have babysitters for them. Board attorney Lucien Gex told board members extending spring holidays could be construed as aiding and abetting the strike and could result in the members being fined or imprisoned. "To extend the holidays is perilously close to aiding and abetting and you take the risk that teachers will not be back to work the following week," Gex said. Gex added that schools that voluntarily close could have state funds withheld. Frommeyer's motion died for lack of a second. The vote in favor of the staff development day followed a motion by Cyril Glover, seconded by Betty Diboll. Diboll said she didn't believe the school board should break the law. "I never have broken the law and I am not going to start now," she added. "We want to help but we can't take a chance of losing our funds," Diboll said. McCullough told the teachers that

On police chief selection

MHP investigator backs Bay mayor's decision

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
A federal agency's recent ruling alleging discrimination in the appointment of an acting police chief in Bay St. Louis has been questioned by a state investigator. Highway Patrol Criminal Investigator Robert Parker does not agree with an Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's ruling against the City of Bay St. Louis. The EEOC ruling, handed down last week, stated that there was evidence of discrimination against suspended Police Captain Robert Butler. Butler, who was suspended from the police department for alleged actions unbecoming an officer in November 1984, says he should have been named interim chief following the retirement of Chief Douglas Williams in September.

Parker said the EEOC had been presented with "ample evidence" to uphold the decision Bennett made in naming Chief Investigator Murray Ladner as acting chief. The Federal Bureau of Investigation crime report on Butler available at the hearing should have been more than enough to justify Bennett's choice, Parker said. "I agree with Mayor Bennett's decision because of differences in the records of Butler and Ladner," Parker said. Bennett said in addition to the as yet unnamed "actions unbecoming an officer," he had suspended Butler because of the investigation being conducted by the Mississippi Highway Patrol. "I would suspend any officer under investigation," Bennett said. According to Parker, the investigation was started in May 1984 following numerous complaints about Butler from citizens. Parker also said written complaints by several citizens have been filed against Butler. In addition to complaints by citizens, Parker said several other law enforcement agencies had reported sighting Butler outside of the Bay St. Louis police jurisdiction, allegedly in uniform and in the city police car. Parker also alleged that during a portion of his time with the Bay Police Department, Butler had been driving with a questionable license. Parker said the loss of a driver's license is enough to cause a patrolman to be fired. "If I were the mayor, I would welcome a chance for everything to come out in court," Parker concluded.

SPECIAL MEETING—Approximately 30 teachers crowded into a Bay St. Louis school board special meeting Thursday. During the meeting, board members voted to have a Staff Development Day Monday, March 11 to see if enough teachers would be at school to open school for students Tuesday. Army says Texas Flat Road not eligible for funding

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors learned Monday that the U.S. Army's Defense Access Road Program has ruled Texas Flat Road ineligible. The county requested in October 1984 that Texas Flat Road be accepted for the Defense Access Road Program because it is the primary access road to the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant. If the road had been accepted, the army would have paid for initial paving provided the board of supervisors agreed to accept maintenance responsibilities. The road is also the only land route to McLeod Park. Hilda Bourg, a member of the Hancock County Park Commission who is assisting the supervisors in efforts to have the road paved, presented the board Monday with a Feb. 25 letter from the Army's Military Traffic Management Command. The army refused the request because Texas Flat Road provides a route for the general public as well as for ammunition plant traffic. Military Traffic Management Command has referred the question of funding for paving the road to the Federal Highway Administration. The Federal Highway Administration is expected to determine by March 31 whether the project is eligible for funding under the Federal Aid Highway Program. Board President A.A. Keller said obtaining funding through the Highway Department is unlikely since the county has previously attempted to obtain funding through that program. Bourg said the park commission will continue working with other channels to find funding for the project.

In addition to discussing continuing problems with the Texas Flat Road project, the board took action on repairs for Lower Bay Road. According to engineer Larry Seal, Lower Bay Road needs to be widened at least three feet and the surface needs to be resealed. The county had originally intended to widen and overlay the road, but Seal said resealing would be adequate and would cost less. Cost is a factor because the funding for the project will come from $251,000 advance credit to Hancock County from the Mississippi Highway Department's State Aid Program. Taking too much funding from that advance credit could hinder the county from repairing the Kiln-Fenton Road during the present supervisors' administration. The board authorized Seal to prepare plans and specifications for the Lower Bay Road project. In another road-related matter, Seal reported that a bridge replacement on Hickory Creek is being held up because of objections filed with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. According to Seal, the wooden bridge over the creek crossing at the Anna Necaise road is higher than the road, which causes rain or from rainstorms to flood the area. Seal said the bridge will be replaced by a concrete bridge. Seal said the project will be completed by the end of the year. The Corps must approve the project because it involves altering the channel of the creek. The Corps has approved the project because it involves altering the channel of the creek. The Corps has approved the project because it involves altering the channel of the creek.

National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Association and the Mississippi Department of Archives and History. Objections from the Fish and Wildlife Service and the EPA concerned the effect altering the channel might have on the habitats of plants and animals that live along the creek. The plants include illex, water oak, sweet bay and black gum trees and the animals include rabbits, opossums, raccoons, birds and several varieties of fish. NOAA objected because diversion of the creek could affect fisheries and the Department of Archives and History objected because there may be Indian artifacts near the creek. Seal said he is working with state highway department officials to clear up the objections and start the bridge project. He said the existing bridge is hazardous because "it's about ready to fall in," and is wide enough for only a single vehicle. "School buses have to cross that bridge and we have somebody worried about a raccoon," Seal commented. ROAD PROJECT

The Thames flows past the playing fields of Eton and past Oxford, where the program visits Dan Goodgame, a Rhodes scholar at the time, from Pascagoula. Goodgame rowed for Oxford's Orle College in competition on the Thames and joined in a boisterous victory ceremony that dates from the days of Queen Victoria.

The documentary also visits Winston Churchill's top-secret underground complex during World War II, the annual Trafalgar Day banquet at the Royal Naval College, a Knights of the Garter procession at Windsor Castle and a ceremony called "swan-upping," in which Her Majesty's Swan Keeper and helpers round up all swans on the Thames to determine ownership of the new brood of cygnets.

Waveland Zoning Board begins ordinance update

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Planning and Zoning Board has started a planned update of the city's zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations.

The board met Monday to begin the process of going over the zoning ordinances page by page, making alterations as problems or out-of-date regulations are found.

The same process will be used to update the subdivision regulations.

According to City Zoning Official Arcelyn Dastugue, the project is expected to take several meetings, with the next one scheduled for 4:45 p.m. March 11.

When the project has been completed, the updated ordinances and subdivision regulations will be presented to the Waveland Board of Aldermen for approval.

Changes discussed Monday are expected to clarify the duties of the zoning official and the city building inspector as well as make the process of issuing building permits more efficient.

In addition, the board discussed clarifying parking regulations, which currently state that vehicles may not be parked in the front yard of a residence.

The board discussed adding a provision clearly stating that the construction of circular driveways through front yards is permitted. The present ordinance contains no reference to circular driveways.

Three arrested on drug charges

BY DENA BISNETTE

In a joint investigation with agents of the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department arrested three men on drug charges Wednesday night.

According to Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner, those arrested included Aaron J. Wilkerson, 24, of Waveland; Hugh W. Shiyon, 22, of Bay St. Louis; and Randy D. Blake, 31, of Z Haven Trailer Park off Chapman Road.

Wilkerson is charged with the alleged sale of a controlled substance and conspiracy to distribute a controlled substance. Shiyon is allegedly charged with conspiracy to distribute. Ladner said. Bond for the two has been set at $5,000 each.

Blake's alleged charges are the sale of marijuana, manufacture of marijuana and possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. His bond has been set at $20,000.

Ladner said all three were released on bond pending a preliminary hearing.

Fire Tower Road work delayed by weather

BY DENA BISNETTE

Weather is delaying the preparation of Fire Tower Road for paving.

According to Larry Seal, engineer for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, 95 percent of a sand-and-clay topping was placed on the road before rain last week interrupted the project.

Seal said the topping tends to be slippery when wet and could make driving on the road difficult, but added that so far, he has received no complaints about the condition of Fire Tower Road.

"It's a bad situation but the contractor can't really improve the road until it dries. It's about like all these projects when you get caught in the winter," the engineer explained.

J.J. Pryor Construction of Waynesboro is working on Fire Tower Road under a State Aid Road Program contract let by the supervisors Sept. 27. The contractor has 90 working days to complete the project.

Seal said he expects the road to be easier to use in wet weather after the remaining gravel topping has been put down.

"It may still be slippery during the first rain after the gravel is put down, but the road will improve after the second rain," he explained.

NEW CHOICES IN VEGETABLES

This year's seed catalogs overflow with new seed varieties of vegetables to improve your garden yields or brighten your produce.

Although seed catalogs always promise "bigger and better" vegetables, the most attractive feature new vegetables have this year is their color.

While most varieties of lettuce are green and a few have a tinge of red, Red Sails, introduced this year, has ruby leaves that are so dark that the plant doesn't photograph well.

However, in the garden and more importantly in salads, this new leaf lettuce should be beautiful.

Sunburst hybrid squash is a color variation of the patty pan or scallop type squash. These squash have been white or lightly tinted green until this year.

Now Sunburst is a brilliant golden yellow with a small patch of green at both the blossom and stem ends of the fruit. The fruit should be beautiful in the garden, in a basket and sliced fresh in a salad.

Lemon Boy tomato as you might expect has lemon-yellow fruit weighing about seven ounces. The plants have some disease tolerance. Sundrop has small orange fruit a little smaller than two inches in diameter while Pink Girl is a hybrid having eight ounce, crack resistant, pink fruit on disease resistant plants.

One of the new carrots for 1985, A Plus, has the standard bright orange color but is unique in that it has double the Vitamin A potential of all other carrots. It's a vitamin enriched carrot that looks good, is good to eat and is good for you.

Among the many new sweet corn varieties, one that draws special attention is Summer Sweet and this is not only because of the flavor, tender kernels, and light colored silks that come off easily but also because people can get it with yellow, white or bicolor kernels.

Some other new vegetable varieties are Sugar Daddy, the new stringless snap pea with edible pods that has a short vine, Rocky Sweet, a green fleshed muskmelon and Spicy Globe basil that is really an herb and can be grown in the vegetable garden or more appropriately as a border plant.

With these new colorful varieties of old favorites, the vegetable garden becomes as colorful as a bed of summer flowers.

However, remember when possible to select those varieties with the most disease resistance and plant them on a trial basis to see how you like them before making the big switch.

MANAGING TIMBER PAYS

A recent study confirms that controlling hardwood brush and thinning pines increase the growth in pine timber.

In a 10-year period from treatment to second thinning, diameter growth and volume in treated stands were 30 percent better than in untreated stands.

In the study, all hardwood stems in a seven-year-old loblolly pine plantation were controlled once by cutting and spraying cut surfaces with a herbicide to control future growth.

Pine sawtimber was doubled in stands where hardwoods were controlled. The bottom line is that timber management pays.

If you want to take advantage of the opportunity to maximize timber yields, contact the Extension office for more details.

Arborist Association Formed

More than 80 enthusiastic tree surgeons, utility company foresters and other interested individuals gathered in Jackson on Feb. 12 and 13 for the first annual meeting of the Professional Arborist Association of Mississippi (PAAM).

Formation of the association stemmed from the work of a core group of Mississippi licensed tree surgeons and conservation agencies concerned about the quality of urban tree care being carried out in Mississippi. The group felt this would upgrade the professionalism of individuals working in the field.

Jimmy Thompson, president and one of the founders of the new Arborist Association, stated, "We felt the meeting was an overwhelming success, with good representation from utility companies, custom arborists and municipalities."

Leon Estes, Utilization Forester with the Mississippi Forestry Commission said that this was one of the most enthusiastic beginnings for an organization that he had witnessed.

Directors of the association are Jimmy Thompson of Indianola, president; Dale Mann, Greenville, vice-president; Terrell Buckelew, Starkville, secretary-treasurer; and three board members, Carl Greer of Meridian, John Moody of Vicksburg and B.J. Wegener of Columbus.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission and Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service played an important role in getting the association started and plan to continue working in support of the group.

For information about the association write, PAAM, c/o Terrell Buckelew, P.O. Box 90, Mississippi State, Ms 39762; or Darlene Slater, Mississippi Forestry Commission, 908 Robert E. Lee Bldg., Jackson, Ms 39201 or call 359-1386.

Are You Paying Mortgage Insurance That Isn't Required?

The California Association of Realtors estimates that homeowners pay $27.2 million a year in mortgage insurance premiums for coverage that is not required.

Do you know whether you are paying mortgage insurance? Lenders require mortgage insurance on all home loans where the buyer's downpayment is 10 percent or less of the home's value. Cancellation is permitted when the outstanding balance on a mortgage has fallen below 80 percent of the home's purchase price. A policy can be cancelled if the owner submits a new appraisal showing the mortgage balance is less than 80 percent of the home's current value.

What's Happening with Life Insurance

Insurance companies have developed new types of life insurance policies to provide higher yields and encourage the savings feature.

Variable Life was introduced in 1976 and Universal Life in 1979. Both of these policies have a split premium; one portion goes for death benefit and the rest goes into an investment expected to provide higher returns.

Universal policies in force grew from $5 billion in 1981 to $124 billion in 1983.

Universal Life often offers a return of 8-12 percent. The cash value buildup in Universal Life policies is not taxed unless the money is withdrawn. Money paid to the beneficiary is not subject to income taxes. Fees vary among companies as do withdrawal options and penalties.

TIMBERLINE

Wood ashes are one of the organic materials, like leaves and grass clippings, that many of us put into a bag and routinely discard. Decomposed leaves and grass are great compost for building poor soil into good soil, and wood ashes can be useful as fertilizer. It's a qualified "can be" because there are certain limitations in the use of ashes.

I had a habit of throwing all the ashes from my fireplace and barbecue pit into the vegetable garden because somewhere along the line someone said they are good fertilizer. I never really bothered to check out the information.

However, a recent publication shed light on the subject for me. The "Community Forest News" from the South Dakota Department of Game Fish and Parks noted, "Wood ash can be useful as fertilizer with one caution. Ashes should not be used when soil pH is 6.5 or higher. Continued applications in such soils will raise the pH and significantly alter soil chemistry."

"Depending on the type of wood and intensity of combustion, ashes contain about 23 percent calcium, six percent potash, two percent magnesium, two percent phosphate and small amounts of several micronutrients such as copper, iron and zinc," the newsletter stated.

Because most soils in Mississippi tend to range from "slightly" to "highly" acidic—that is, they have lower pH than 6.5—most of us could successfully use ashes in our good idea to have your soil tested for pH first.

In any soil, it probably would be better to use ashes sparingly—or at least to spread them around in moderate concentrations. Nitrogen is the element most likely to be in short supply in your soil, and there is no nitrogen in wood ashes.

"Hungry Bucket" is mascot winner

"Hungry Bucket" was selected as the winner of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee's anti-litter "Name the Mascot" contest.

The entry was submitted by Bobby Underwood of Waveland, who received a $25 cash prize.

Judging the more than 75 entries received were Paul Montjoy of Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal, Betty Benvenuti Evans of The Gulf Coast Horizon, and John Mason, chamber president.

Within the next few weeks, "Hungry Bucket" posters will be distributed throughout the county to promote the War on Ugliness anti-litter campaign," said Kathy Fernandez, contest chairman. "It is our goal to have Hungry Bucket become as popular as Smokey the Bear and Seymour de Fair."

The committee plans to undertake future projects using Hungry Bucket including a coloring contest for first to third grade students, a puppet show and the creation of a real-life Hungry Bucket.

The Beautification Committee extends a special thank you to all contest participants and supporters for their efforts with this activity. Anyone wishing to display the Hungry Bucket posters are encouraged to contact the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Focus on Small Business

U.S. Small Business Administration

By Dorothy A. Overal
Public Information Officer
Biloxi Branch Office

Q: Is it true that more businesses failed during the past year than ever?

A: Before the question can be answered, one has to define the difference between a business failure and a business bankruptcy.

On a national average, two out of three businesses will close their doors during the first five years of operation.

In 90 percent of the cases, these dissolutions are voluntary—that is, the owner retires, or shifts into a different enterprise.

The remaining 10 percent of the cases are classified as involuntary dissolutions, ceasing operation due to financial reasons.

One category of these dissolutions is bankruptcies, businesses that formally file with the bankruptcy courts.

The other category is business failures, firms that cease operations and leave outstanding debts. The number of dissolved firms in this category is, understandably, more difficult to track than bankruptcies. Keeping the definitions in mind, the actual number of bankruptcies during 1983 was 58,898, slightly lower than the record set in 1982 or 65,807.

During 1983, however, bankruptcies declined 30 percent between July and December 1983, compared to the same period in 1982.

The bankruptcy figures also must be weighed against the entire business community. There are 14 million small businesses in the country today, four or five times as many as during the Great Depression of the 1930s; thus you would expect business failures to be more numerous than 50 years ago. In addition, it's much easier to enter bankruptcy today than it was years ago.

Also keep in mind that more and more Americans are going into business for themselves. Because new business starts are at record highs, it's understandable that business failures will be relatively high, too.

State sales tax "giveaway" totals $15.5 million per year

March 5, 1985
Letters to the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

Do the consumers in Mississippi, who are paying six percent sales tax on virtually everything they buy, realize that all six percent does not go to the State, but that the retailers in Mississippi are allowed by law to pocket two percent of all Sales Tax collected?

It seems that the legislature some years back imposed a two percent discount to all retailers collecting Sales Tax. This is how it works.

Sales Tax collected in January is due to the State by the 20th of February. If the retailer pays the Sales Tax to the State by the 20th, he is allowed to deduct two percent of Sales Tax collected not to exceed $50 per month.

Suppose retail sales for a given store is $40,000 for the month of January. The Sales Tax collected is six percent of $40,000 which is $2,400. This is the tax that should go to the State. But the retailer is allowed by law to deduct two percent of the $2,400 tax if he pays the tax by the 20th of February—two percent of $2,400 is $48.

The retailer submits $2,352 to the State and keeps the remaining $48.

If the retailer does this each of the 12 months, he will pocket $576 a year.

This $576 is tax the consumer has paid in good faith as Sales Tax.

Let me go one step further. There are approximately 81,000 businesses in Mississippi (1984 Mississippi State Tax Commission Data) responsible for collecting Sales Tax. If 1/2 of these businesses take advantage of this discount, using my figure above, the State will give away over $15.5 million a year—$576 X 27,000 = $15,552,000.

I brought this to the attention of a local legislator and was informed that the two percent discount was enacted some years back to encourage the retailer to pay all Sales Taxes on time.

Does the Federal Government issue a two percent discount to pay taxes on time? Hell No! So why do we?

I feel confident that the Legislature can find some way to utilize $15.5 million.

Just think, this could pay for insurance for teachers, or could even go toward a raise.

Bill Allain has stated he will veto any bill to raise taxes. Here is an example of taxes that are already being paid by the consumer, but our legislature has decided to give away.

It makes one wonder, if this loophole in the Sales Tax structure is so obvious, how many other loopholes can be found?

Maybe Ray Mahus should audit the State Tax Commission and find out exactly how much money has been given away since this ridiculous piece of legislation was enacted.

Economic future of Mississippi's children in hands of legislature

March 8, 1985

Dear Editor,

As a citizen who thinks beyond the present, who tries to weigh the consequences of a decision, I am appalled at the thinking of the leaders of our state, most especially our governor.

Our children have long been known to be our greatest resource. We are in economic difficulty in this state primarily because we have so many citizens who are uneducated or unskilled.

The greater ability one has for earning the better the state is economically.

Our state officials seek counsel from this expert and that one, observe programs all over the nation to no avail. Regardless of the strategy the ultimate economic success of our state depends on the preparation of its citizens to become successful and productive.

If this truth were really realized by our own legislature and if they truly represented our people, they would be working 18 to 20 hours a day, while convening, seeking meaningful ways to secure monies for keeping the best professional and industrial people in our state—monies to give our young citizens the very best preparation for work.

We need to get our priorities straight. We now have our cart ahead of the horse in our Mississippi Legislature.

It is high time our legislators and Governor Bill Allain realize the seriousness of this crisis.

It is not a power struggle between two factions. The very future of our children and our state is at stake.

As teachers, we are not a militant group but being in education full time we realize more than anyone what is happening.

Our primary concern has always been the children we teach but one must make a living.

After 18½ years of teaching, two degrees, 18 hours of graduate work, and numerous workshops my take-home pay (which is all I can spend) is only $809 a month.

In some parts of the state I would earn considerably less.

My car payment, a Mazda 626, is $245 a month. How hard I work at my job and how well I do it does not raise my salary one bit.

Classroom management is much more difficult now due to a lack of consistent discipline in the home and lack of supportive court or school board rulings.

Teachers are being abused by some students and parents; they are carrying a heavy work load which increases constantly; are not treated as professionals, and see little hope of their plight improving with our present legislature and governor.

Where is the incentive to become a teacher or to teach in Mississippi?

Parents, if you were to really take the time to realize the hours your child spends with teachers and the impact they have in formulating values and in preparing your child for life in every area of his/her being, you would be working diligently to see that the very best teachers remained in our state to ensure a good positive influence on your child.

The monies can be appropriated with effort. The legislature found monies to secure their already secure financial future.

Why not raise the tax on soft drinks, beer, other alcoholic beverages, and cigarettes?

These are not necessities so those already suffering financially would not have added hardships as those which will be imposed by a proposed tax on professional service which many of us cannot afford already.

The companies producing the afore-mentioned products will not suffer loss because most people who consume these items will consume them at any cost.

If this effort of teachers and their supporters fails, the blame will lie entirely on Governor Bill Allain, Representative Buddy Newman, and the entire number of legislators who did not support it.

The economic future of our state and the future of our children is in their hands. What will you do about it? Act now!

Sincerely,
Neil D. Woodall

Friendliness in Bay St. Louis area extolled by visitors

Dear Editor:

Bay St. Louis has the nicest, friendliest and most helpful people it has been this writer's experience to meet.

On Friday night, Mar. 1, around midnight the writer and his wife came out of Delchamps Super Market in the Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center only to find that our automobile would not start.

Two young girls came to our rescue first, trying to get it started by using our battery jump cable to their automobile.

After this was unsuccessful a young man and a policeman were able to get it started, using the policeman's patrol car.

I neglected getting any of the participants names, but certainly did not want these Good Samaritans to go unnoticed.

This was not the first time we have been assisted in your fair city, and I am certain it probably will not be the last time.

To the gracious people of Bay St. Louis, we say thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Thankful visitors,

Educated Mississippians may become endangered species

March 6, 1985

Letter to the Editor:

As a taxpayer and a parent of public school students, I feel compelled to take an active stand in support of our striking teachers.

Mississippi is...regarded throughout the United States as somewhat of a joke. We have taken a passive role in the governing of our state and we sit back complacently as a small group of politicians keep us depressed and ignorant.

Now, for the first time since desegregation, a group of people have dared to challenge this system by saying that they will no longer stand for this unfair treatment.

Because of inflation and lack of sufficient wage increases, teachers are now earning four percent less than ten years ago.

Why should our teachers be satisfied making nearly $4,000 a year less than the average teachers in all of the other Southeastern states?

This year there will be only 45 teachers graduating from Mississippi colleges and universities.

Right now there are several times as many openings as there are applicants because of a lack of qualified teachers in Mississippi.

Our best teachers are being recruited to all of our neighboring states. If someone offered you $7,000 more a year plus insurance benefits, would you be able to turn them down?

The 1982 Education Reform Act was passed and became law.

Other states are using it as a model for drafting their own legislation.

Mississippi's progress is being closely scrutinized by these states.

Mississippi teacher salaries should equal southeastern average

To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

We are parents of children in the Hancock County School District.

We feel that it is very wrong for our governor and state representative to not support our teachers.

Our children are the highest resource of the future that we as a nation have.

And the teachers who educate our children should be paid equal to those of other southeastern states.

According to a study done by National Association of Education/Mississippi Association of Education Reach Center in Atlanta shows that Mississippi is the lowest paid state in the Southeast.

Virginia	$21,528
Florida	21,060
Alabama	20,700
North Carolina	20,680
Kentucky	20,100
Tennessee	20,000
Louisiana	19,871
South Carolina	19,800
West Virginia	19,563
Arkansas	18,933
Georgia	18,631
Mississippi	15,971

Teachers in the states of Louisiana and Tennessee make $4,000 more and the outcome will help in determining their course of action.

The Reform Act provides for raising teachers salaries as soon as funds become available.

But funds persist in being "unavailable."

The example we are setting is certainly a dubious one.

As responsible citizens we cannot allow our legislators to bungle this important piece of legislation.

Obviously, legislators have treated this as "window dressing" and have no real desire to improve the educational standards in Mississippi.

Governor Allain, whom we recognize as the chief legislator in our state, has illustrated this by his seemingly evasive and sometimes hostile actions.

As first among Mississippi politicians, Governor Allain should be the leader in spearheading the movement to alleviate our educational inequities and in insuring that future Mississippians be provided with as great an educational opportunity as those anywhere else in the United States.

The future of Mississippi may well rest in his hands and that future can be determined by the outcome of this teachers strike.

I hereby challenge all Mississippians to decide how they stand on this very crucial issue.

Once you make up your mind, follow through by calling of writing your legislators and demanding that they stand up for what is best for Mississippi; or someday educated Mississippians may be classified as an endangered species.

Celeste Pendleton
Pass Christian

than Mississippi teachers per year. Teachers in Alabama make $5,000 more than Mississippi teachers per year.

The southeastern average pay is $19,736 and in states that border Mississippi average pay is $19,876.

Our teachers are asking for $3,500 raise in pay which would not even meet the southeastern average.

Their average pay would be $19,471.

Also, from a collective statement issued by 11 Coast school superintendents, our schools have lost 110 or more teachers since September, 1983. We have lost a total of 16 educational programs or courses due to the lack of teachers.

It is an insult that some of our quality teachers do not even make $15,000 per year and that our governor would only offer our teachers $1,500 raise in pay.

We feel that this is an insult to our children. As parents we entrust our children's education by law to the state, and the state has the resources to raise our state officials' pay but not our teachers'.

It is also a shame when state government officials come before our children and the future that they may bring our state.

Those who do not enjoy parades should stay home

March 5, 1985

To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

May I say, in answer to Ms. Maxine Wamsley's letter; Has she ever spent her own money to view Triton's Parade? Why is she so concerned?

The members of this, and all, Krewe's spend their own money, time, and love of carnival on their parades.

They work hard all year, beginning the day after Mardi Gras to produce their next spectacular ball and parade which we in Hancock County enjoy and appreciate "free of charge."

Ms. Wamsley, let me suggest if you do not enjoy parades etc., then why don't you stay home?

The krewe's will not need you, nor will they miss you.

Concern for one another essential in modern civilization

March 6, 1985

Dear Sea Coast Echo,

I am writing this letter so it might help me understand why some people act or talk the way they do.

It seems terrible but it's true that there are lots and lots of people that do not want to get involved with others in trouble or that need help in some way.

I am not speaking of myself but people in general, like they've said on TV.

Someone hurt or dying can be lying in the street and people will just walk by, afraid to get involved at all. I think that is really bad.

I know not much of that happens around here, mostly in big cities or in big states, but you just think about such as that, and it really seems awful.

Well, that's about all I'll say, but please think about what I have written.

Sincerely,
Betty Caldwell

Historical society, garden clubs plan tree registration

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Historical Society, Bay-Waveland Garden Club and Diamondhead Garden Club are joining forces to begin a tree registration program.

In addition, the garden clubs plan to request the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland to pass tree protection ordinances.

The proposed registration program is similar to one currently being used in Ocean Springs, where records are kept of the ages, locations, varieties and historical background of the city's oldest trees, according to Peggy Gibbens of the historical society.

The tree registration program in Ocean Springs was established with the cooperation of a national garden club organization.

"We want to establish a coordinated effort between the garden clubs and the society to insure that the background on the historical trees is as accurate as possible," Gibbens explained.

"We would welcome some help with that," said Mrs. George Cassis, president of the Diamondhead Garden Club. "We have many very

MUSICIANS PROFILED

Two special programs profiling three giants in American music will be broadcast on Mississippi ETV Wednesday evening, March 20.

At 8, Mary Martin, star of the Broadway classics "The Sound of Music" and "South Pacific," hosts "Rodgers and Hammerstein: The Sound of American Music." The program surveys the musical team's—Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II's—greatest achievements through interviews, motion picture clips, photographic stills and TV appearances.

At 9:30, Alex Haley hosts and narrates "William Grant Still: Trailblazer from the south," a musical profile of the "dean of American black composers." Still, who lived for a time in Woodville, Mississippi, broke new ground as a classical music composer in the 1930s and '40s.

Vets service officer blasts proposed cuts

Hancock County Veterans service Officer Mike Ladner has urged the Mississippi delegation in Congress to prevent the Administration's proposed cuts in veterans medical benefits.

Ladner addressed his plea in letters this week to Sen. John Stennis, Sen. Thad Cochran, Rep. Trent Lott and Rep. G. V. Montgomery.

Text of Ladner's letter to the congressmen follows:

"Our veterans are becoming justifiably enraged at what the Administration in Washington is contemplating on doing to cut veterans' health care benefits in VA Hospitals.

"On behalf of hundreds of veterans, I personally feel that if veterans' health care benefits are cut in VA Hospitals, a gross injustice will be done.

"Many of our non-service connected veterans and qualified veterans deserve treatment in VA Hospitals as much as service-connected veterans. Most of the non-service veterans are living solely on their VA benefits and cannot afford private insurance.

"The non-service veterans served our great nation to keep it free from aggressors and were fortunate enough to return home uninjured and without a medical disability. Today we are not at war. However, I am sure that these same veterans would go back to battle and give their lives to keep this nation free. Our veterans deserve VA Health Care.

"Hundreds of thousands of veterans that returned home from the great wars do suffer from service-connected disabilities, especially since they have become older and are just now beginning to feel their pain. However, they cannot prove it in many cases because they were given treatment in a steaming hot jungle tent or in Field Hospitals where medical records were either never kept or were destroyed.

"My hope and prayers are that our leaders will carry on with their support to our VA Hospitals, veterans and dependents' benefits.

With best wishes, I remain,
Sincerely yours,
Mike Ladner"

TV TAX SPECIAL

"Tax Break '85," a two-hour special on Federal income taxes moderated by David Birney, most recently of the TV series "Glitter," and JoAnn Pflug, currently seen on "Candid Camera," will be presented Sunday, Mar. 10 from 4 to 6 p.m. on Mississippi Educational Television Network.

This year, for the first time, representatives from the National Society of Public Accountants, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and the National Association of Enrolled Agents will join Internal Revenue Service representatives on the program, offering advice on all aspects of Federal income tax return preparation.

The first hour of the program will feature line-by-line instructions on how to complete the Form 1040EZ and Form 1040A. The Form 1040EZ is designed for single taxpayers who do not itemize. The Form 1040A, frequently referred to as the "short form," is also for non-itemizers but allows for such things as single or married filing statuses, interest and dividend income over $400, and the credit for Child and Dependent Care.

The second hour of the broadcast will focus on helpful information for those planning to file the standard Form 1040 with Schedules A and B.

Special emphasis will be placed on determining whether Social Security benefits are taxable, as well as other recent changes to the tax laws.

The broadcast will be closed-captioned for the hearing-impaired, and during the two-hour show, viewers will be able to call the IRS toll-free tax information number to receive answers to their tax questions. The toll-free number nationwide is 1-800-424-1040.

Logan's two-hit pitching sparks Rock win over Cats

The St. Stanislaus Varsity Baseball team, sparked by the two-hit pitching of Mark Logan, defeated the Long Beach Bearcats Wednesday afternoon in a game played at Long Beach.

The Rock-a-Chaws exploded for five runs in the second inning and never looked back as they built their lead by scoring in the next four innings.

Seven Rock-a-Chaws had base hits in the ballgame, with Jay Artigues, Mark Logan, and Mike Weems collecting two hits apiece.

Yasin Shabazz and Donald Pitalo each scored twice, while Artigues, Weems, Logan, David Pitalo and Jake Welsh each scored once.

St. Stanislaus led off the top of the first and were put down 1-2-3 by starting Long Beach pitcher Chris Searles. In the bottom of the first, Long Beach threatened when Bearcat third baseman Jeff White walked, advanced to second and stole third.

Logan got Bobby Reed to strike out. Logan got out of the inning when clean-up hitter Joey Herbert grounded out to Logan.

Weems led off for SSC in the second inning with a single up the middle, followed by David Pitalo's walk. Welsh grounded to White who mishandled, which loaded the bases.

Matt Rosetti hit a grounder to the second baseman who threw to first, scoring Weems.

Donald Pitalo then walked, followed by Phillip Wittmann's walk.

Shabazz then doubled to left center, scoring two runs making the score SSC 4 Long Beach 0. Artigues singled, followed by the Logan double.

With the score 5-0 and the bases loaded with two outs, Weems grounded out to end the inning.

Long Beach fought back in the bottom of the second when Vic Crosby hit a high fly to right field which dropped in. Bob Hammack then walked. Logan got the pitcher Searles to weakly pop up to Wittmann at first.

Long Beach second baseman Williams then walked, followed by right-fielder Hawkins ground out to David Pitalo at shortstop.

Mike Lawson then hit a high fly to left which fell in, scoring two runs for Long Beach. Mark Logan then went to work, striking out White to end the inning with the score SSC 5, Long Beach 3.

Neither team threatened in the third inning, but the Rocks mounted a rally in the top of the fourth when Shabazz was safe on a hard grounder hit to the shortstop.

Jay Artigues then walked, followed by Mark Logan's walk. Harris then came in to pitch for Long Beach.

Mike Weems' sacrifice scored Shabazz. David Pitalo then hit into a double play to end the inning.

Logan retired the Long Beach hitters in order in the bottom of the fourth as SSC held a 6-3 lead.

Welsh led off for the Rocks in the top of the fifth with a double down the left field line.

Rosetti then fled out to the second baseman, and Welsh was caught leaning the other way at second base and was picked off on a strong throw by Long Beach catcher Joey Herbert.

Donald Pitalo then walked, and Wittmann hit a deep double to the left field fence, scoring Pitalo. Shabazz then struck out to end the inning.

Logan had little trouble with Long Beach in the bottom of the fifth, striking out Herbert and getting White and Crosby to fly out to second baseman Rosetti.

SSC added two more runs in the top of the sixth against new Long Beach pitcher Mike Lawson.

Artigues beat out a grounder which Lawson could not handle. Logan then singled. Weems then struck out, and David Pitalo was safe on an error by White.

With the bases loaded and one out, Welsh was hit by a pitch, scoring Artigues. Rosetti then walked, scoring Logan. Donald Pitalo then struck out, and Wittmann's line drive to left was caught ending the inning with the bases loaded.

Long Beach could not mount an attack in the bottom of the sixth, as Logan got the first three batters to hit infield grounders, which the Rocks easily handled.

In the top of the seventh, Shabazz hit a deep fly that was caught by the right fielder. Artigues then continued his solid hitting with a single up the middle. Logan then fled out to the right fielder. Weems stroked a single, but David Pitalo's grounder to the second baseman ended the inning.

Logan then proceeded to strike out Hawkins, and after an error by Welsh allowed Lawson to reach first. Lawson then stole second. A nice pickoff move by Logan trapped Lawson in a rundown for the second out. White then walked, but Bobby Reed flew out to Shabazz to end the game with the final score SSC 9, Long Beach 3.

SSC next plays Bay High Monday afternoon at the Rock-a-Chaw diamond. Game time is 3:30 p.m.

Point of Law

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.)

Q: I have been laid off work and cannot pay my debts. I have considered filing bankruptcy, but I am afraid that I will lose my car if I do so. I currently owe $6,500 on the car, but it's only worth $3,000. Is there some way I can keep the car and still go through bankruptcy?

A: You have two choices. If you file a Chapter 7 bankruptcy, the person who has a lien on your car will be permitted to sell it. However, you can redeem the car by offering the creditor the $3,000 market value. While you probably cannot pay the $3,000 in installments to the creditor, you may be able to refinance the car through another lender.

As an alternative, you may wish to consider filing a petition under Chapter 13 of the bankruptcy laws. You are eligible for relief under Chapter 13 if you have a stable income through wages or other sources. Under Chapter 13, you may keep your car and modify the payment schedule to the lien holder so that you pay the $3,000 owed over three to five years.

Q: I was adjudicated a bankrupt last year and received a discharge from all my debts. However, last month I was convinced by a former creditor to begin making payments on an old debt. Must I continue to make the payments?

A: Such an agreement is called a "reaffirmation agreement." Such agreements are enforceable by a creditor only under certain conditions, the most important of which is that the agreement must have been approved by the court. Since it does not appear that the agreement you refer to was so approved, you may refuse to make any further payments without being concerned that the creditor may enforce the agreement in court.

Any attempt by the creditor would subject him to the possibility of being held in contempt of the bankruptcy court. You may, of course, voluntarily make such payments as you desire.

SPECIAL AWARD—A surprise presentation was made Wednesday by David Treutel, president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, to James R. (Dick) Shadoin, when he was named a Paul Harris Fellow. Shadoin is all smiles as his wife Margaret places a Paul Harris pin on his label. Shadoin joins previous Bay Paul Harris recipients Carl Smith, Joseph Scharff, William (Bill) Watts, Randle Hatton, J. Hugh Miller and Rev. Charles R. Johnson. The Bay Rotary Club meets Wednesday noon at Todd's Great Steaks. The Bay Rotary is in District 684 and was formed in 1926. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

the school board did not want to hurt anyone but if they are backed in a corner, they must act accordingly.

"I haven't found anyone with the answers, but we must look at the school district and consider all the consequences in the decision," he said.

"We do have a school to run and students' education to take care of and I am hoping you will help us," McCullouch said.

"You can make or break us. We need your support and dedication," he added.

"I have been doing my best that you (teachers) will not be in breach of contract and not have anything deducted from your paycheck," he said. "By my interpretation you have not been on strike, but simply on the picket line."

Teachers' spokesman Peggy Dutton said according to the definition of strike, which is any cessation of normal activities in protest of people in power, the teachers were on strike.

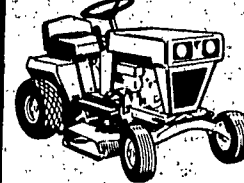

"It is not our intention to hurt anyone in this crisis but we are just trying to open school," McCullouch said.

ASCS Report

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) has announced the appointment by the Secretary of Agriculture of five members to the Mississippi Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The senator said the appointments to the five-member ASCS panel, one from each Congressional district, were effective and are for one-year terms from March 1.

Cochran said the appointments include Mack Thompson of Hickory Flat, First District; Hobson Gary of Schlater, Second District; James Estes of Noxapater, Third District; Braxton Bullock of Carson, Fourth District; and O.M. Tilley of Lucedale, Fifth District.

The ASCS committee oversees the administration of major farm programs and policies in the state.

"This is one of the most important responsibilities in our state," Senator Cochran commented, "especially given the magnitude of agriculture in Mississippi's economy."

He said further, "All five are experienced and personally knowledgeable about agriculture and the economics of farming and related business and industry in our state. I am pleased that they are willing to serve in this important capacity."

ETV Brief

AMERICAN PLAYHOUSE

Dick Van Dyke and Cloris Leachman star in the "American Playhouse" television adaptation of Lee Kalcheim's 1982 Off-Broadway comedy, "Breakfast with Les and Bess," at 9 p.m., Monday, Mar. 11 on Mississippi ETV.

Van Dyke and Miss Leachman play a husband-and-wife team who host a daily morning radio talk show over a major New York City radio station in 1961. Shaun Cassidy and Wendel Meldrum are featured as their two nearly grown and long-neglected children.

The play focuses on the events that take place around Les and Bess while they are conducting their daily broadcasts in their bathrobes from their Central Park South apartment.

Their son David is an embryonic activist who has driven his car into the Central Park lake and refuses to be hauled out by an attorney "who voted for Nixon."

Daughter Shelby has eloped with a sailor whom she has known—depending on who is counting—two or three days.

Planning commission elects new officers

The Hancock County Planning Commission welcomed recently appointed member Woodrow Ladner and elected new officers Thursday. Ladner, who was appointed last week by Supervisor A. A. Keller, succeeds the late James Rester.

Chairman Wayne Ducomb, Vice Chairman Victor Green, and

Secretary-treasurer Paula Necaise were appointed by acclamation. Building Inspector Donn Murray reported to commissioners that there had been 21 building permits issued in February for a total of $1,016.

The permits included eight homes, five trailers, four additions and four permits were issued for no charge.

Bypass surgery could prevent heart attacks

Coronary bypass surgery, once the dramatic, experimental effort to save the lives of heart patients, has become so successful, it is currently being used as a way to prevent heart attacks in certain patients.

This method of heading off a fatal heart attack is not advocated for those with simple coronary symptoms which lend themselves to other kinds of treatment. However, in a large number of coronary patients, bypass surgery could mean the difference between a normal life and severe incapacity.

In an article entitled "The Case For Prophylactic Coronary Bypass" published in a recent issue of the medical journal "Surgery," Ochsner Clinic cardiovascular surgeon, Dr. Neol L. Mills, urges other vascular surgeons to consider this option.

"In a selected group of patients, particularly those who have significant blockage of the main left coronary artery and those with blockage of three coronary arteries who must undergo a major operation in another part of the body, coronary bypass surgery may be the only way of preventing a heart attack," Mills points out.

"Many times it is only when the patient comes in for a workup before surgery for other ills that we discover serious heart involvement. Unfortunately, there is nothing in the rule book of health that declares that a patient with significant coronary artery blockage must have symptoms," he states.

"That is why angina pain has often been labeled 'God's gift to man' because it alerts people to their true heart condition," he adds. "It is the body's natural governor against over exertion in one who has heart disease."

In selecting patients who may profit by this kind of "preventive or prophylactic" coronary bypass surgery, serious consideration must be given to the patient's age, any other disease he may have and whether or not he has had a previous heart attack.

Advances in bypass techniques, such as the use of the internal mammary arteries for grafting, plus the fact that the procedure now has an overall low mortality rate of approximately one percent and can restore most patients to normal daily life, argue for using the procedure in those patients who are at real risk from heart attacks, he explains.

Another factor to be considered in favor of preventive coronary bypass surgery is the fact that patients who have undergone the procedure and subsequently required operations, have the same operative risks as those of the normal population, Mills says.

Frequently cited in the discussion of coronary bypass surgery is the cost of the procedure, which can be as high as $15,000. However, sometimes foregoing the surgery can be even more costly. Mills points to the case of a patient admitted for another kind of surgical procedure. Some five years before, an angiogram had revealed that he had coronary artery disease.

Because of the lack of coronary symptoms in all that time, a stress test and another coronary angiogram were deleted from the preliminary workup. On the second day after his operation, he had a heart attack. After a stay in the coronary care unit, some eight weeks later, his bill was $42,000.

Subsequently, a cardiac catheterization revealed that all coronary arteries were significantly diseased and the patient had a coronary bypass adding its cost to those already incurred, he relates.

Encouraging also are comprehensive studies in Europe on the long-term results of coronary artery bypass operations in patients with stable angina.

"Patients who undergo operations for main left coronary artery disease and triple-vessel coronary artery disease enjoyed a significant improvement in survival rate. Those with surgery lived some years longer than those patients treated medically, according to those studies," Mills reports.

Danish farmers seek Mississippi answers

By Ralph Ballew
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

A Danish dairy farmer recently brought the European case for finding mutual solutions to mutual farm problems directly to Mississippi farm leaders.

Hans Kjeldsen, president of the Agricultural Council of Denmark and president of the Danish Farmers' Union, addressed Mississippi farm and agribusiness leaders both in Jackson and in Starkville.

Kjeldsen, who operates a dairy farm in Denmark, pointed to the need for unity and cooperation between the U.S. Government and the European Common Market.

"The only reasonable way to proceed is to find common solutions to common problems," Kjeldsen said. "We can turn trade into an economic battleground or we can cooperate and respect each other's interests."

"In the European community, we prefer the latter and I am sure you do, too," he told the Mississippians.

Europe and European agriculture have been criticized and attacked for their agricultural trade policy by U.S. policymakers for a number of years. Kjeldsen stressed the need to look at the present tensions as slight differences only.

"The ties between the nations of the European Community and the United States are important," Kjeldsen said. "We are allies. We depend on one another in many ways, both politically and economically. Any strain on our relationship is therefore a step away from our best mutual interests."

Kjeldsen stressed the positive factors in trade between the U.S. and the Common Market.

"The Common Market is in fact your biggest farm customer," he said. "Our livestock farmers rely on your cereals and soybean growers for much of their animal feed."

Kjeldsen said that without the Common Market's regular demand for American exports, farm income in this country would be even lower. He pointed out that the Community is a very reliable customer; one that pays in hard cash.

"In 1982, only 15 percent of the Community's agricultural imports from industrialized countries were subject to the variable levy system so sharply criticized by U.S. Administrations for more than 20 years, he said. "As for the other 85 percent, more than 50 percent comes in at zero duties."

The farm leader said the European Common Market was organized in 1957 by 10 independent countries. The organization was based on a political deal that opened up trade between its members for industrial goods and for farm products.

"Free trade was achieved in industrial goods by eliminating customs tariffs between the members," he said. "But the different agricultural structures in the member states and the different forms of farm support meant that cutting tariffs for agricultural products would have been meaningless. Thus the Common Agricultural Policy or CAP was built up and became a key element in European integration."

Kjeldsen said CAP goals include, increased productivity, a fair standard of living for the farm population, market stability, supply assurance and reasonable consumer prices.

To achieve these CAP goals, the European Community fixes common guideline prices for a major part of its agricultural production once each year.

"When world prices are below the EC level, variable levies are applied to imports to bring prices up to the EC level," he said.

"Similarly, refunds are paid by the EC on exports to bring our prices down to a level where we can compete on the world market."

Kjeldsen believes the CAP has succeeded except in one major area.

"CAP has failed in its bid for farmers to have reasonable incomes," he said. "From 1974 to 1982, real incomes have dropped by 2.9 percent per year on an average for EC farmers."

On the other hand, he said the success of CAP has led to some other problems. Consumption has gone up less than production, causing the Common Market to pass the point of self-sufficiency for some products. And CAP has become more dependent on exports, which causes internal and external problems.

In reshaping CAP policy to correct some of these problems, the Community introduced so-called mented. "The raccoon can move down the creek a few hundred feet but that bridge is on the verge of collapse."

In business not related to roads, the supervisors heard a complaint about poor drainage on Avenue D in Shoreline Park, and approved a request by Assessor-Tax Collector Edward Murtagh for permission to use $20,000 of his office's current budget to purchase additional services from Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District.

The board also set a public hearing on the establishment of a bird sanctuary in the Belle Isles community; opened bids on a copy machine for the Sheriff's Department; and moved the county's annual tax sale to third Monday in April.

The supervisors meet again on March 13.

Packing collectibles

At some point in your collecting career, you'll be faced with the need to pack your collectibles for moving or shipping.

This can be a turning point in the enjoyment of your hobby. Many a beginning collector has been tempted to call it quits after discovering broken pieces of a valuable collectible in a poorly packed box.

Whether the broken item is rare and costly or easy to replace, the tragedy easily could have been avoided by following a few simple packing tips from the experts.

The box-within-a-box method is an easy and effective way to protect almost any collectible of small to medium size. Here's all you have to do:

Wrap your collectible carefully in several layers of protective padding. Plastic bubble wrap makes the best padding, but disposable diapers, newspapers or towels will also work in a pinch.

Place the wrapped item in a box just large enough to hold it. If the box is too big, stuff more padding around the object so that it does not shake within the box.

Securely seal the first box with strong tape.

Cover the bottom of a larger box with foam packing chips or shredded paper and put the first box within the second. Stuff more padding all around the first box and seal the second one securely.

Boxes with interior dividers, such as those used to pack drinking glasses and similar items, are excellent for packing small objects. Again, however, each item should be individually wrapped and padded to avoid breakage.

- 1/4 Teaspoon White Pepper
- 1/4 Cup Water

Wash and dry the sole. Rub with a paste made of mint, garlic, parsley and 1 tablespoon of oil.

Saute green onion in the remaining tablespoon of oil, add wine, water and seasonings.

Meanwhile, broil the fillets until just done and remove to a warm platter. Pour the pan juice into the wine sauce. Heat sauce and pour over sole. Serve at once.

Yield: 4 Servings
Approx. Cal/Serv.: 255

Recipe Tip: The wines and spirits you cook with need not be very old or expensive, but they should be good enough for you to drink and enjoy. The alcohol evaporates during cooking, leaving only the flavor and tenderizing qualities of the wine or spirits.

Chinese cooks, like their thrifty counterparts in other countries, are experts at the art of stretching bits of chicken or shrimp or pork or what have you into delicious meals, by skillful use of rice and seasonings, with the addition of small amounts of celery, mushrooms and so on.

And the cooking is not only easy, but oh, so good—and good for you! Just as the Creoles and Cajuns have their Jambalaya, the Spanish and Mexicans their Paella, their Arroz Con Pollo (rice with chicken), other countries have their own variations on the theme, with the basic rice at center stage, so to speak.

The Chinese have mastered the art of "stir fry," an easy as easy technique after all—just quickly sauteing morsels of meat or fish or poultry, and adding previously cooked rice and other tasty bits resulting in a dish fit for the finest table.

A word of caution: I find that you must cook the rice ahead of time for this dish, as when I've tried to use just-cooked hot rice or raw rice the result is on the mushy-mushy side.

Here's a tasty, so-easy concoction which can serve as the main course or as a side dish for a more elaborate dinner or buffet supper. Here's:

Stir Fried Rice and Shrimp
2 Tblsp. oil
1 onion, 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
1 green pepper, sliced into thin strips lengthwise
1 lb. shelled shrimp
2 cups cooked rice, well chilled
2 eggs, ever so lightly whipped together
2 Tblsp. diced green onion
1 Tblsp. soy sauce
Pepper, salt, hot pepper sauce to taste
Parsley sprigs
Several slices of bacon, diced, optional

Bamboo shoots, mushrooms, celery, water chestnuts, optional as desired.

Heat the oil (Chinese cooks prefer peanut oil, but use the oil of your choice) in a heavy skillet, and if you're using the bacon, dice it and let it brown a bit.

If not, proceed to the next step; add the onions, garlic, green pepper and cook for about two or three minutes, add any other vegetables, add the green onion, then the shrimp. Cook until the shrimp start blushing a pretty pink, then add the rice and soy sauce, along with the seasonings and parsley. Keep stirring and "frying" till the eggs are firm and your taste buds a-tingle.

This dish is truly a stretchable feast. You may use a cup of chopped shrimp or chopped or sliced or shredded chicken or ham, or whatever, varying the amount of rice according to your needs and what's on hand.

P.S. Some cooks prefer to poach the eggs, then shred them in strips.

Hancock farmers eligible for FmHA emergency loans

Farmers in 67 Mississippi counties are eligible to seek emergency loans due to damages and crop losses suffered during heavy rainfall last Fall, U.S. Senator Thad Cochran said.

Cochran said the Farmers Home Administration in Washington notified him it was declaring 32 counties as natural disaster areas due to excessive rainfall from Oct. 1 through Nov. 30, 1984.

In addition, the agency said, 35 other counties were named as contiguous counties where farmers may qualify for emergency loans under provisions of the Emergency Agricultural Credit Act of 1984.

Farmers Home said the 67 counties were immediately eligible for the emergency loan designation, and farmers seeking help should apply at local Farmers Home offices in those areas.

The agency said the 32 counties declared as natural disaster areas include Bolivar, Calhoun, Carroll, Chickasaw, Clay, Coahoma, Copiah, DeSoto, Grenada, Holmes, Itawamba, Lafayette, Lawrence, Lee, Lincoln, Noxubee, Oktibbeha, Panola, Pearl River, Pike, Prentiss, Quitman, Sunflower, Tate, Tippah, Tishomingo, Union, Warren, Washington, Webster, Wilkinson and Yalobusha.

Farmers Home said the 35 contiguous counties, where farmers may seek loan assistance under the 1984 Emergency Agricultural Credit Act, include Adams, Alcorn, Amite, Attala, Benton, Choctaw, Claiborne, Forrest, Franklin, Hancock, Harrison, Hinds, Humphreys, Issaquena, Jefferson, Jefferson Davis, Kemper, Lamar, Leflore, Lowndes, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Monroe, Montgomery, Pontotoc, Rankin, Simpson, Stone, Sharkey, Tallahatchie, Tunica, Walthall, Winston and Yazoo.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

—1 Peter 4:11

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister

501 Pine St.

Bay St. Louis

WHAT LIES BEYOND THE GRAVE?

When the disciples of Jesus were disturbed because of his announcement of his approaching departure from the world, he consoled and gave them hope.

He said, "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also." (John 14:1-3)

We must think often and long about the future. This life is short. James wrote, "Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away." (James 4:14)

Eternity is coming. Jesus gave us a preview of the judgment: All nations shall be gathered before the throne of Christ. There will be an eternal separation. "And these shall go away into eternal punishment; but the righteous into eternal life." (Matthew 25:46)

By thinking of what lies beyond the grave, we may be more concerned about our salvation.

Let us review some of the things that will occur after death.

Solomon tells us what happens when one dies. "Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was; and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it." (Ecc. 12:7)

There are two parts to man: They are physical and spiritual. The soul of man is more important of the two. Jesus contrasted the two parts of man. He stated to his disciples, "And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." (Matthew 10:28)

While encouraging sacrificial service Jesus said, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" (Matthew 16:26)

"All will be resurrected from the grave in the same hour. The evil will be punished, but the righteous shall receive eternal life." (John 5:28-29)

"The judgment comes after death." (Heb. 9:27)

Before "the judgment seat of Christ...everyone of us shall give account of himself to God." (Rom. 14:10-12)

Therefore we must heed the teaching of the inspired Paul. He taught, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting. (Gal. 6:7-8)

The words or teaching of Jesus shall be the basis of judgement. (John 12:48)

John previewed the judgment: "And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the book was opened which is the book of life; and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the book, according to their works." (Rev. 20:12)

There will be punishment for the wicked. The evil will be lost. "For the wages of sin is death..." (Rom. 6:23)

John in a vision saw the punishment. "And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and false prophets are, and shall be tormented day and night forever and ever." (Rev. 20:10)

In speaking of the eternal chastisement, Jesus said, "The son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and they shall cast them into a furnace of fire; there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth." (Matt. 13:41-42)

The righteous will be blessed forever. The Bible says, "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city." (Rev. 22:14)

We also read, "...be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." (Rev. 2:10)

James gives promise to the faithful: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." (James 1:12)

Eternity means never ceasing. Since everything in this life ceases, it is hard to comprehend eternity. It cannot be measured in terms of years, centuries or millenniums.

Eternity includes two places. They are heaven and hell. Each of us must choose whether we will live in bliss in heaven or die eternally in hell.

Will the future be bright for you? It depends on you. Each must make his decision about the future. Where will your eternity be?
